Presbyterian Choir Reception. The last Presbyterian Choir Reception took place on Thursday night of last week, at the residence of Mrs. Judge Frierson. The night was rainy and threatening, but quite a large crowd were present. The exercises were open-ed with harp and piano, followed by several vocal duets, and closed with eautiful dialogue from "Bitter Sweet, and the song of "Old Hundred," by large choir. The music was all good and the reading excellent. Ladies are better readers than men, because their voices are musical, and in the present instance, the exquisite words of Doctor Holland could not have found more perfect utterance or fuller meaning. The young ladies present are remarkable for their rare beauty; but this was jucreased to a fairy-like brilliancy, by the superb arrangement of rooms, lights and flowers, making the ugliest men look handsome—all showing the exquisfte taste of one who once received a tribute of admiration from all who saw

The Senatorial Question. The question between Williamson and Manry can be stated in a nut shell, thus: Williamson has a just claim to the office of Floater, but some of her sons wants a bigger thing, and their friends are endeav oring to swap her Floater to Maury for the latter's Senatorship. We object to such a trade, and think the only way for the two counties to always get along is for them to start off right on the ourney they have to travel together, we think that county Individually, we think that county lipes should be obliterated in all judicial and legislative contests, and let the people select the best man in the race. to positions over opponents far more seriously damaged.

AGUE AND FEVER

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superlority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, ar Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed, and carried out. ections are strictly followed and carried out. rections are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families bave been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, how ever, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. I usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Sheuld the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the tonic, a single dose of Bull's Vegetable Family Pills will be sufficient.
